My wife sat next to the author on a flight to Las Vegas recently. The conversation eventually came around to gambling in general and craps specifically. She was intrigued by David's approach so he gave her a copy of his book (for free). Upon her return from Vegas, she gave me the book and said, "You may want to try this". I read the book cover to cover in about an hour. I then logged on to Omni Casino and proceeded to turn a $2,000 bankroll into approximately $9,000 in five days, playing about an hour a day. The strategy is simple to implement and requires minimal practice to get the hang of it. I actually received a private practice session from David using his personal craps table that he purchased from MGM Grand. I bought in for $500 and walked away an hour later with $800 using David's strategy. Buy the book. Practice. And then take your bankroll to your closest craps table. You'll be glad you did.

I like this book, but in my opinion, it is about 75% complete. For me, it's enough to go to the casinos and try. The rest of the unanswered questions I will have to get from another of his books or see the author directly.

I just finished reading Craps a winning Strategy and I thought was very interesting and a strategy I will employ when I'm playing on the do side. One question I have is when you get 2 hits from a shooter why take your bets off the table instead of telling the dealer that bets are not working. When the next shooter gets his point number, just tell the dealer your bets are now working. It would save the player and dealer extra work and time. All in all it was a very good read and I will try it out.

LOL - nothing new under the sun - Darby's Field -rehashed into a winning strategy - I doubt it - you will spend a lot of time recouping when a 7 wipes you out - as of late this method is also know as the Iron cross - save your money

Great book that teaches the basics of the game of craps and how to keep more of your winnings!
